The editor of the Tribune displays ignorance and blind partisan malice in his editorial. Any man, woman or child who read the newspapers in the winter of 1876-7 knows that the electoral commission originated with the democratic house of representatives, was passed there by a majority of democratic votes. This is a part of the history of the country and we are surprised that the editor of the Tribune doesn't know it.

And as for Mr. Hayes, his administration is one of the cleanest administrations this or any other country has seen. We have not tried to create a Hayes boom as the Tribune says. It was known from the date of his nomination he would not be a candidate for re-election. The recent decisions of the sus But how any man who supported preme court of the United States Samuel J.
